

BOC Management Development Graduate Programs 2004/2005

BOC runs intensive Graduate Development Programs that extend over a period of two/three years through which graduates with real world experience are recruited and placed in rapid developmental programs throughout Australia and New Zealand. We are looking to develop the leaders of the future!

As a company that employs 44,500 people in more than 50 countries, BOC touches the lives of everyone, everyday, through our involvement in everything from electronics to farms, water purification to glass production, life saving medical products to service stations.

We're engineering great careers.

If you are an Engineering or Business Graduate, this is a chance to make a world of difference.

In addition to being a graduate with work experience or a young professional who has recently completed a degree, you;

- are seeking an opportunity for rapid career progression in a global environment.
- possess self-confidence, initiative, drive and creativity.
- crave the freedom to take the initiative and pursue every avenue.
